To our valued customers,

Re: Food recall warning

Due to the recent official recall of certain pork products from Pine Haven by the Canadian Food Inspection Agency from an E. coli outbreak, we have taken all necessary steps in protecting our customers.

While we source our pork products from other suppliers, Pine Haven has been one of our providers. We received official notice of a recall from Pine Haven of certain pork products on April 25th, 2018. We had already removed many of their products from our shelves prior to the announcement as we had been informed of a possible investigation at their facility.

We have taken all steps in working with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency and our official recall notice regarding this matter has been made public. We continue to serve our customers with confidence using our other suppliers of pork products and are running our business as usual. At this point, none of the products or illnesses have been linked to our facility.

Should you have any pork products listed on our recall (see link below), please return them to our store for replacement or refund, or discard of them. Some of these products will have labels with a "packed on" date, or can also be identified by knowing the date of purchase as listed within the recall. You will find the recall information online here:

We want to thank all our loyal customers for your continued support during this difficult time for everyone involved. We take great pride in the quality of our products and providing our customers with confidence in our products.

Warm regards,
Alicia & Darcy Boisvert (Owners)
